PREFACE.

In arranging and presenting the records contained in the following pages, the author wishes first of all to thank those who have helped him in this work. Without the efficient aid of many of the descendants, but little could have been accomplished. Prominently among these may be mentioned: Mrs. Hannah D. Hutchings, Mrs. Samuel M. Pierce, and Mr. Franklin H. Bond, all of Kittery.

It will be noticed that a few dates are lacking. The author has used every means in his power to obtain these, but without success.

These records are complete to January 1, 1894; there are a few entries of a little later date.

It is interesting to note that there have been seventy-nine descendants through the male line from Nathaniel Wilson; out of this number thirty-five are living.

These records are arranged according to a system of numbers often used by genealogists. Each child is given a number. Further on in the records the families of the children are given in the order of these numbers. As a child a person's number is given at the left of the name; as the head of a family his number is to be found in the middle of the line, directly over the name. For example, suppose the family of Josiah Wilson, son of Joseph Wilson, to be wanted. In the history of Nathaniel Wilson's children Joseph Wilson is No. 7. Turn the pages until No. 7 is found in the middle of the line and there is given Joseph Wilson's family. Josiah Wilson is No. 32 in that family. Turn the pages until No. 32 is found in the middle of the page and there is given the family of Josiah Wilson.

In this work the letters "b," "md," and "d" are used respectively for born, married, and died. The latter is always written after the name of a person deceased, although in some cases the date of death is not given.

In case further information about the ancestry of Nathaniel Wilson is obtained within reasonable time, a supplement containing it will be sent to all who have this book. If any one can give any tradition or other information which may aid in getting additional evidence, the author will be very glad to receive it.

FRED A. WILSON.

NATHANIEL WILSON.

ANCESTRY.

The name of Wilson is a familiar one; but of the many thousands of that name now in this country, comparatively few have a common ancestor in America. That is to say, there are probably hundreds of families of Wilsons in the United States which are not so near of kin as to have a common ancestor of so late a date as 1630. Genealogical dictionaries dealing with the period previous to 1700 give long lists of Wilsons who settled in this country during this period, very few of whom are mentioned as being even distantly related to each other.

The town of Kittery, Maine, was settled early — probably previous to 1630. Among the early settlers in Kittery there was one who is the earliest ancestor in this country of what is now a large family of Wilsons. This man was Gowen Wilson. The first mention of him in Kittery bears the date 1647, at which time Kittery was incorporated as a town. Gowen Wilson was one of the forty-two men admitted at that time as citizens of the town. Probably he was then a young man. Extant signatures of his prove conclusively that he spelled his name as it is here written, although other records of that date spell it Gawin, Gowin, and Goin. The exact date of Gowen Wilson's death is not known. It was between June 2, 1684 and August 6, 1686. At this present writing nothing whatever is known about his wife.

There are records of three children of Gowen Wilson, viz :—Joseph, John, and Deborah. Deborah Wilson married Andrew Haley, the first Haley in Kittery. Of the two sons, Joseph was the elder, and he inherited his father's estates ; John probably died a young man, and was not married. Joseph Wilson is the ancestor of all the Wilson families at present represented in Kittery. His wife was Hannah Endle, daughter of Richard Endle, Sr., whose estate adjoined that of Gowen Wilson. The following is a list of the children of Joseph and Hannah Wilson :—

Hannah, born Nov. 19, 1683.

Joseph, do. Oct. 28, 1684.

William, do. Aug. 28, 1686.

Ruth, do. Apr. 19, 1688.

Gowen, do. Jan. 29, 1690.

Agnes, do. Mar. 1, 1692.

John, do. Jan. 13, 1694.

Rebecca, do. Feb. 16, 1696.

Deborah, do. Apr. 19, 1698.

Mary, do. Feb. 25, 1700.

Anna, do. Mar. 29, 1702.

Elizabeth, do. Sept. 23, 1705.

Of the four sons above mentioned, William is the ancestor of the family of which the late Col. Gowen Wilson of Kittery (born 1788, died 1878) was a member ; Joseph is the ancestor of the families of which James Wilson (1787—1864), Elihu Parsons Wilson (1769—1834), and Jane and Betsey Wilson, all late of Kittery, were members ; John is probably the ancestor of the family of which the late Nathaniel Wilson (1760—1841) was a member ; Gowen moved to Cumberland, County, Me., and it is not known that any of his descendants ever returned to Kittery.

At the present time the ancestry of Nathaniel Wilson — the head of the family whose geneology is herein given — can not be established with certainty. Judging by what little evidence there is, part of which will be given, the above mentioned John Wilson was his grandfather. This would make the male line of ancestry of Nathaniel Wilson as follows : —

5. Nathaniel Wilson, (born 1760, died 1841).
4. (Not known).
3. John Wilson (born 1694).
2. Joseph Wilson (born abt. 1655, died abt. 1710).
1. Gowen Wilson (born pre. to 1625, died abt. 1685).

There is conclusive evidence, part of which will be given, to show that the land occupied by Gowen Wilson was near what is now "Brigg's Corner," on Spruce Creek about two miles from Kittery Point Village. This was the first land granted to a Wilson in Kittery; and it was always the home lot of Gowen Wilson, although there is some evidence that he afterwards owned land elsewhere. Very likely he settled upon this land before the incorporation of the Town in 1647, the town afterwards confirming it to him. The following is a copy from the Town Records of the original land grant.

"JANUARY 19, 1658.

Granted, lotted, and layd out by y^e Selecttownsmen for Kittery unto Gowen Wilson, his heirs or assigns forever, he duely preferring y^e town order, twenty-four acres of upland on y^e East side of Spruce Creek and joyning to Robert Mendam's lott by a division of marked trees on y^e South East side of y^e said Mendam's lott and soit runs twenty-four rods by y^e water side and so back into y^e woods by a North line until y^e said number of acres be accomplished. This grant was recorded y^e 25th June, 1661."

From a study of this grant alone it would be difficult to tell the exact location of the land in question. Other boundaries are mentioned in connection with subsequent grants of "addition to Gowen Wilson's home lot;" and finally, in 1703, a map of the estate was recorded upon the Town Records. A little creek called "Goose Creek" is shown upon this map, as well as elsewhere in the Town Records. This is near Brigg's Corner and is now called Wilson's Creek.

At the time of his death Gowen Wilson owned about forty-five acres of land at this place, bounded somewhat as follows: The general direction of the land was North East and South West, or parallel to what is now the Norton Road. Its South Western boundary was Spruce Creek; its North Eastern boundary was about 160 rods North East from what is now called Cherry Tree Point. Its South Eastern boundary was very near the Norton Road; its North Western boundary was a line parallel to the Norton Road and about 45 rods distant from it.

Gowen Wilson was a Selectman of Kittery in 1674 and 1675. His son Joseph, who inherited his father's property at Goose Creek, maintained a "garrison house." There were several garrison houses in Town, each being the refuge of from six to twelve families in times of trouble with the Indians. Joseph Wilson is always mentioned in the Town Records as Sargeant Joseph Wilson. Judging by the map, his garrison house was located somewhere upon the land that was recently the home lot of the late William Wilson, Jr. Several additional grants of land at this place were made to Sargeant Wilson, and eventually the North Eastern boundary was extended until in 1703 it was fully three-quarters of a mile from the shore. He also owned land, probably fifty acres or more, farther "up the Creek," including the estate of the late James Wilson.

Sargeant Joseph Wilson died intestate about the year 1710. His widow, Hannah Wilson, was appointed administratrix. The portion of the estate reserved for her use included the land at Brigg's Corner recently owned by William Wilson, Jr., William Wilson, Sr., and John Wilson, all late of Kittery; the remainder was divided among the four sons, — Joseph, William, Gowen, and John.

Between 1712 and 1736 several minor mentions are made of John Wilson, which show that he was living in Kittery during this time. In 1736 he sold all of his portion of his father's estate to his three brothers. In 1748 Hannah Wilson died; and the portion of Sargeant Wilson's estate set apart for her use, as before mentioned, was divided among the children. In this division the land was all given to Joseph and John. Joseph Wilson immediately sold his share to his son Moses Wilson, and it passed by inheritance to its late owner William Wilson, Jr. John Wilson's share included the home lots of the late John Wilson and William Wilson, Sr. (sons of Nathaniel Wilson), and the corner lot between the land of said William Wilson, Sr., and the main road to Kittery Point, — the latter containing about two and one quarter acres, and now belonging to the heirs of the late William Wilson, Jr. This corner lot was sold by a son of John Wilson to Moses Wilson, before mentioned, as appears by the following abstract of a deed:

Benjamin Wilson, Kittery, to Moses Wilson, Kittery, by deed dated Nov. 29, 1762; a piece of land in Kittery lying "on the North East side of the Road that leads to Kittery Point, opposite against said Moses Wilson's land where he now lives, containing two and a quarter acres. Bounded North Westerly by said Moses Wilson's land; South Westerly by the aforesaid road; and South Easterly by a lane leading towards the Dwelling House of my father John Wilson late of Kittery-deceased."

Any one familiar with the locality will recognize from the foregoing the probability (almost a certainty) that Sargeant Wilson's son John owned and occupied the land afterwards owned and occupied by Nathaniel Wilson. The piece of land referred to in the above deed is the corner lot upon which stood the house of the late William Wilson, Jr., the lane mentioned being what is now the Norton Road.

The above, together with the fact that there is no record of any transfer of this land, is strong evidence that Nathaniel Wilson acquired it by inheritance from John Wilson.

John Wilson was 66 years older than Nathaniel Wilson. Upon this fact is based the assumption that there was only one generation between them.

There is a chance of settling this question of Nathaniel Wilson's ancestry in the probability that he was not born in Kittery. There are reasons for believing that some of John Wilson's children moved elsewhere in early life, in which case it would not be improbable that they (or their children) returned upon inheriting their father's estate.
